PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

At Southern Cross Early Childhood School, we work in partnership with families to ensure all children are successful and reach their full potential. We understand the importance of the early years and the relationships we nurture with children, families and the community. We believe that when you enrol a child, you enrol the family. As a team we work hard to develop positive and productive relationships between children, staff, families and the wider community.

The school ensures continuity for children in both their learning and relationships during their early years. The School's motto, "From Little Things Big Things Grow", encapsulates the value placed on providing a caring and nurturing environment for our young children to grow and develop into active and successful members of our community. High quality early education is offered through a focus on play-based learning, explicit teaching of literacy and numeracy, science, sustainability, physical education and all aspects of the Arts. Kelly Booker, Principal
